Re: U.S.- China Air Service
Docket OST-99-5539-a 3

Dear Ms. Walker:

Motorola (China) Electronics Ltd. supports Federal Express' application for additional routes rights to China. We rely on FedEx for fast, dependable, time-definite express service to China and Asia.

We, Motorola (China) Elec. Ltd. is one of the biggest wholly-owned foreign investment enterprises in China with heavy investment. We manufacture many high value products here in China and do have huge Import/Export volume with enterprises worldwide, especially in U.S. and Asia/Pacific.

Granting FedEx authority to increase its China service will allow Motorola (China) Elec. Ltd. to increase our Import/Export volume with U.S. and Asia/Pacific and also to improve our ability to compete in the regions. That will definitely generate more job opportunities and export businesses for U.S.

Accordingly, we urge the Department of Transportation to grant FedEx's application. Motorola (China) Elec. Ltd. appreciates the Department's Consideration of our views on this very important matter.

Sincerely,

H.C. Zhang

Re: U.S.-China Air Service
Docket OST-99-5539

Dear Ms. Walker:

Hewlett-Packard Medical Product (Qingdao) Ltd. (HPMP) supports Federal Express's application for additional routes rights to China. We rely on FedEx for fast, dependable, time-definite express service to China and Asia.

HPMP is one of the HP global medical product bases and sells product worldwide. Our products are pagerwriter, patient monitor and so on. Most of our material imports from abroad, especially from US. So the transportation time and cost are very important to us.

Granting FedEx authority to increase its China service will allow HPMP to get material fast with low cost and to improve our ability to compete in the region.

Accordingly, we urge the Department of Transportation to grant FedEx's application. HPMP appreciates the Department's Consideration of our views on this very important matter.

Sincerely,

Logistics Supervisor
